

Jennifer Wu

“I strive to create images that evoke a mood or a chord of recognition or even a sense of longing with the viewer. Some may sense tranquility and peacefulness or perhaps powerful and vivid qualities to draw one on to more and more discoveries before leaving one image to explore the next. These dramatic landscapes are at the edge of the light of night and day as I search for exquisite and unique places.

My lifelong quest for capturing nature's elusive or even unrecognized beauty has pushed me to embark on ever more challenging adventures in California as well as throughout the United States and Europe. I often wait for the wind, clouds, and light to all come together in a mystical way. These images share with you the story of the transitional world as a beautiful place often with magical moments when anything can happen.”

After earning a BA degree in photography at California State University in Sacramento, Jennifer has continued a 15 year career as a professional photographer. Her images have been exhibited in nationally recognized galleries, have been featured in magazines and books, and have won numerous awards. She teaches photography at CSU, Aspen Photo Workshops, Afilm International Workshops, Lepp Institute, Canon U.S.A., Sierra Club, and Betterphoto.com. As a member of the elite group of Canon Explorers of Light, her spectacular sky photographs are used in their professional camera brochures.
